Westby Electric and Water Utility & WPPI Energy Sponsored Live Educational Performances of ‘Showdown at Conservation Canyon’ produced by the National Theatre for Children at Westby Elementary School on January 16th.

The show tells the tale of Dodge Ball City Sheriff Carrie Gooper of Dodge Ball City. Not only are people wasting energy all over Carrie’s town, but she’s also been challenged to a high-noon showdown with the leader of the notorious Cons Gang. Carrie enlists the help of her friends and students in the audience to back her up and get to the bottom of this dilemma. As they do, they’ll learn about how electricity is made and ways to use it wisely.

The entire school was able to experience the fun, interactive performance. The 25-minute, high energy show featured two professional actors who each play a variety of roles. The program focused on how energy and electricity are made, the uses of energy, ways in which energy is wasted, and how to conserve energy and electricity.

It is great to give back to the community in a way that helps students understand how they can make a difference in energy conservation.
